

WEATHER FORECAST:
Fair tonight and Tuesday.
(Full Report on Page Two.)

NUMBER 8579.

WASHINGTON, MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 28, 1915.

PRICE ONE CENT.

The Washington Times

HOME
EDITION

GEO. M'HENRY IDENTIFIED AS FORNEY'S 'PAL' BY HOTEL MAN

Waiter Said to Have Threatened to "Beat Up" Young Lawyer, Claiming He Is Victim of "Frame Up."

Waiter Insists He Is Innocent of Assault on T. Franklin Schneider—Third Man Still Sought.

PITTSBURGH, June 28.—Harry C. Carlisle, of Washington, D. C., was arrested today at Atlantic City for alleged complicity in the attack on T. Franklin Schneider.

PITTSBURGH, June 28.—George McHenry, the Washington waiter, charged by Thomas G. Forney, the young Washington attorney, with being the head and front of the plot to murder T. Franklin Schneider, millionaire candy man and real estate owner, of Washington, arrived here this morning and at once became the center of police interest in the sensational case.

McHenry underwent for hours a continuous "sweating" process at detective headquarters and he was identified positively as the man who registered with Forney at the Hotel Anderson early last week prior to the assault upon Schneider in that hostelry.

After grilling McHenry for more than an hour, Homer Crooks, chief of detectives, said he had not obtained a confession, but that McHenry had made "several wild admissions." Captain Crooks returned to his room, asserting that he intended to question McHenry all the afternoon if necessary to pick up the missing links in the strange story related by Forney, who shifts responsibility upon the waiter.

INSISTS ON "FRAME UP."

McHenry was brought here from Washington early this morning by Detective Louis Henry, of the Pittsburgh force. He repeatedly threatened en route to beat up Forney, his accuser, if opportunity is presented. He insists so far that he is the victim of a "frame-up."

William J. Morris, manager of the Hotel Anderson, identified McHenry today as one of the men who registered under an assumed name at the hotel. At 3 o'clock this afternoon other persons will be summoned to detective headquarters to look at the prisoner, who denies having been in Pittsburgh. The detectives have summoned for the identification process the police who is said to have made a key for Forney and McHenry to open Schneider's room at the hotel, and at the hotel where he sold the two a second-hand hammer used in the assault.

A clerk in a store where the two are alleged to have gone to purchase a hat after the assault, has also been called. Up to this time McHenry has not been confronted by Forney, and the police plan to keep the two apart until the "sweating" of McHenry is completed. A dramatic occurrence will be the meeting of the two young men, but Captain Crooks says McHenry will not be allowed to get near enough to the Washington lawyer to carry out his repeated threats to "beat Forney up."

Visited By His Father.
Forney's father came here last night from Plainfield, Ohio. He is a wealthy breeder of blooded animals. The Washington man's uncle came today, the father returning home after a pleat stay at police headquarters. The uncle, an attorney with the accused lawyer. When he left he said he did not fully understand the case, but his nephew "must be mentally unbalanced."

Forney's father will return here Wednesday for the arraignment. William Leguillon, attorney for young Forney, said today he had not perfected plans for the defense, but it would not surprise him if Forney, now in custody, were to be released. The Pittsburgh detectives, however, scoff at the theories that Forney is insane.

The trial of Forney and McHenry will not take place until next fall, according to present indications. Attorney Leguillon said his client would merely plead not guilty Tuesday, and would be committed to jail in the event bond cannot be arranged. Under the Pennsylvania law the assaults of Mr. Schneider, if convicted, are subject to imprisonment for not more than seven years and to a fine not exceeding $1,000. Forney was told today of Washington reports that his wife, the beautiful young daughter of Schneider, and a bride of six months, had repudiated her husband. The prisoner declined to accept.

Balks at Testifying In Thaw Sanity Trial

Photo. by American Press Association.
MRS. EVELYN NESBIT THAW.

NAVY YARD TOILERS PROTEST WAGE CUT

Machinists' Delegation Confer With Secretary Daniels. Congress Is Blamed.

Indications are strong that a serious situation will be brought about by the cut in wages of 1,372 employees at the Washington navy yard.

A big fight between the employees whose wages have been reduced and the Government is a likelihood. This afternoon at 1 o'clock a committee of navy yard employees, headed by N. P. Altias, and representing the machinists, molders, boilermakers, and patternmakers, conferred with Secretary Daniels at the Navy Department.

Won't Accept Cut.
The committee, a dozen strong, emphatically made it known to Secretary Daniels that the employees do not intend to stand for the cut in wages.

On the other hand, Secretary Daniels takes the position that he is bound by the legislation of Congress in the naval appropriation act, and that he has done the only thing he can do under the circumstances.

Daniels Stands Firm.

Secretary Daniels showed no indication of altering his position with respect to the reduction. He maintains the law was interpreted wrongly in the first place, whereby the entire increase of $200,000 went to Washington and not $200,000 went to Indian Head, and that the department is compelled to act as Congress directed last session.

The employees today took the position that the department could give them relief, and denied it, rested solely with Congress. They did not conceal their purpose to fight to the end against the reduction.

TURK ENVOY IN ROME ASKS HIS PASSPORTS

Severance of Diplomatic Relations May Be Caused by Action of Italy's Fleet.

ROME, June 28.—The Turkish ambassador to Italy, Namik Naby Bey, visited the Italian foreign office late Saturday and demanded his passports.

Immediately after Italy's declaration of war against Austria, it was reported that the Italian ambassador had left Constantinople, but these reports were never officially confirmed. The Turkish ambassador to Rome continued his visits to the Italian foreign office.

It is possible that Italy's departure was prompted by Italian newspaper statements that Italy would soon participate in the campaign against the Dardanelles and by reports that units of the Italian fleet already were en route to join Admiral de Robeck's Anglo-French fleet.

There has been no declaration of war between Turkey and Italy. A severance of diplomatic relations leaves the two countries in the same situation as Germany and Italy. Both Germany and Italy have recalled their ambassadors, but neither has formally declared war.

Canadian Premier Off To London Conference

MONTREAL, June 28.—Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, left for New York today, accompanied by General Hughes, minister of militia. He will sail for England Wednesday for a conference with British government officials.

U. S. Buys 19,000 Acres For Artillery Camp

General Scott, of the army general staff, announced arrangements today to buy 19,000 acres near Tobyhanna, Pa., for a field artillery camp and rifle range. He said purchases were also likely in Georgia, California, and Texas.

Free Dancing. Great Falls. Take Cars 36th and M. sta. nw.—Adv.

EVELYN THAW AGAIN REFUSES TO TESTIFY IN SANITY TRIAL

Slayer's Wife, Now at Mountain Camp of Her Dancing Partner, Evades Process Servers.

"He's Still as Mad as on Night of Stanford White's Murder," Declares Young Woman.

UPPER CHATEAUGAY LAKE, N. Y., June 28.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, for whom subpoena servers have been searching, today is still at the camp of Jack Clifford, her dancing partner, here. She did not go to Canada as reported.

The subpoena servers here failed to find her.

"If necessary to avoid going on the stand in Harry's sanity trial, I will go over the border to Canada within a few hours."

This statement was made today by Mrs. Thaw, who is firmly convinced that if her husband is freed he will seek vengeance upon her. Her terror is real.

"So you've found me, after only three days here," she exclaimed. "Well, welcome to the camp. Let's go in where it's warm. Fishing, these mornings is chilly work, but I love it. You know I never was in a place just like this before."

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is still unreconciled to her husband, but, unreconciled, she is unwilling to testify against him. Sought by the subpoena servers for the State, she today consented to talk to reporters.

"AS MAD AS EVER."

"That's all I hear, that's all I hear—that they are going to free him, that he has been punished enough, that he is being persecuted. But when the highest legal brains in New York, State of New York free Harry Thaw. It will have turned its back on common decency. The man is as mad today as he was the night of the murder."

"All he needs to inflame him to murder again is as much whiskey as he can get. And free, he will return to it. Sooner or later if they free him they will have the whole tragedy re-enacted."

"As a matter of fact, he shouldn't be in Mattawan. His money has opened official gates. It has corrupted the highest legal brains in New York. It has wrought wonders that can only be surmised. He should be in a private sanatorium, supporting himself with his own money. But, private or public, he should be confined where he cannot get liquor, where a stronger will than his is dominant, where he will be under the strongest restraint."

"Oh, I know he has all the cunning of the lunatic. Let him be free, he can convince men that he is sane. But I know Harry Thaw. I know him better than his mother does—I, his wife. A wife knows a man as his mother never can."

"I know how the world sees me and how it sees him. They are lionizing him. I was just a girl—a plaything. He has become the center of a mad world. I am just an incident, but I tell you I know him."

Newspapers Rebuked By Judge for Trying Thaw's Sanity Case

NEW YORK, June 28.—A scathing rebuke to the New York newspapers and their attitude toward the present Harry Thaw sanity trial was delivered by Justice Hendricks, the presiding judge, at the opening of the trial today.

The trial of this case by the newspapers, both as to how it should be conducted and what evidence should not be introduced must stop," said Justice Hendricks.

"I want to warn the newspaper men covering this trial and their editors that this trial of the newspapers must stop or I will summon them before me for contempt of court."

It also became known that the court was understood that the court's attitude was caused by the stories concerning Evelyn Nesbit's connection with the case.

President Plays Golf at Dartmouth

Motors to College Links With Dr. Grayson at Thirty Miles An Hour.

WINSTON, Vt., June 28.—The golf links claimed President Wilson today. He arose at 7 o'clock, and, accompanied by his physician, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, motored twenty miles in a bracing breeze to Hanover, N. H., where he played twice around a nine-hole course on the Dartmouth College links.

The chauffeur apparently was given orders to let the car out, for the twenty-mile trip was made at a rate of thirty miles an hour most of the way.

After his golf, the President dressed in a rumble suit and served at a club house.

Another motor trip was planned for this afternoon.

SEVEN MORE NAMED IN ANNAPOLIS PROBE

Implication of Additional Midshipmen Broadens Scope of Inquiry.

ANNAPOLIS, June 28.—The scope of the investigation of examination practices at the Naval Academy was broadened today when seven additional midshipmen were brought in as defendants.

The new defendants are Midshipmen Charles M. Reagle, David Glick, E. H. Jones, W. H. Hopkins, Jr., E. J. Waddell, Karl Keller, and H. R. Whittaker. All are members of the second class, except Midshipman Whittaker, who is in the third class.

At the opening of today's session, they were summoned before the court, and President Russell read testimony taken at the inquiry which forms the basis for the charges, and informed them of their rights to attend the remaining sessions and have counsel.

Visited Departments.
Midshipman Reagle, a youth who admitted that he had roamed through all the departments of the Academy and had taken a great deal of advance information, including portions of an examination in English, and who also made revelations concerning hazing.

Midshipman Waddell also gave damaging testimony against himself. He admitted having made a number of surreptitious trips to the departments, and obtaining advance information in at least one instance.

Midshipmen Glick and Whittaker were charged with having made a number of visits to the departments with Reagle, and having taken some of the matter referring to the English examination. Midshipman Hopkins was Reagle's roommate.

Saw Examination Copies.

Midshipmen Jones and Keller, according to their own admissions, made use of advance copies of an examination in modern languages, upon which the prosecution today rested some of its charges. Jones and Keller insist that they didn't suspect that the copies were actual copies of the examination.

The defendants began the examination of the witnesses today, the first witness being Midshipman J. E. Kennedy, roommate of Midshipman L. P. Wessell, one of the original defendants. He said that Wessell, given him some "dope" on the modern language examination, but that he had said nothing to indicate that it was advance information. Shown a copy of the examination paper with the head turned down, he said that he recognized the papers were cut out of the original.

Midshipman Kennedy said that he would not have believed it was an examination if it had been so. He said that examinations usually are, he said, more difficult, and different in arrangement.

TELS OF 6TH WIFE'S DEATH IN A BATHTUB

Landlady Says She Died on Day Following Marriage—Crown Offering Last Witnesses.

LONDON, June 28.—The crown began offering its last witnesses today in the trial of George Joseph Smith, charged with drowning three of his six wives in their bath tubs.

Mrs. Louisa Blatch, landlady of a rooming house at High Gate, where Smith took his sixth wife, Margaret Elizabeth Lott, on her honeymoon, told of the young bride's mysterious death on the day following her marriage. Smith eloped at her defiance while she testified.

"I had been out walking in the forenoon, just like a newly married couple," said Mrs. Blatch. "When they returned at noon the girl said she wanted to take a bath, and I drew some water for her. I came downstairs, and when I heard the front door slam, as if Mr. Smith had come in, I didn't look to see if he really went out."

"In about half an hour he came into the kitchen with his hat in his hand, and some footnotes. He said he had just been to market. Then he went on upstairs, and in a minute we heard him yell."

"Come up quick! She's dead in the tub," he ran up and there he was in the bathroom, holding the girl's head. I thought she was dead, but he told me to go for a policeman and a doctor. He said, 'Better get Dr. Bates; she was sick last night, and I took her to him.'"

Crooks Rifle Drugstore Safe, Flee With $1,927

HALICZ TAKEN AND DNIESTER RIVER CROSSED BY GERMANS

Berlin Says Russians Are Falling Back in Some Disorder After Losing Battle That Lasted a Fortnight.

Capture of Railway Crossing Stream North of Stanislaw and Advance of Austro-Germans Threatens Slavs.

BERLIN (via wireless to London), June 28.—Austro-German troops have stormed and captured Halicz, north of Stanislaw, and have crossed the Dniester river.

Heavy howitzers wrecked the Russian position at the Halicz bridge head and forced the enemy to retire after a battle that lasted nearly a fortnight. The Slavs are falling back to the north in some disorder.

Capture of Halicz and the railway crossing the river north of Stanislaw is perhaps the most important Austro-German victory since the winning of Lemberg. General von Linsingen's extreme right pressing on from Halicz, now threatens to cut the Russian Bukovina and Bessarabia army off from the forces operating to the north around Lemberg, unless the Russian left wing makes a hasty retreat upon Tarnopol.

The war office statement this afternoon indicates that the Russians, except at isolated points, have been entirely swept from the south bank of the Dniester and are rapidly being thrown out of south-east Galicia.

Russians Foil Germans' Effort to Cut Through Front Near Lemberg

PETROGRAD, June 28.—The grand duke has frustrated a determined attempt by the Austro-Germans to pierce the Russian line between Lemberg and Brest and cut off the southeastern armies from those operating east of Lemberg.

The Russians, it is officially admitted, have fallen back along a thirty-mile front southeast of Lemberg. But by withdrawing his forces from Bobrka to Zaravno, the grand duke has kept his lines intact and avoided the trap set for him by von Mackensen and von Linsingen. The new Russian positions, along a small river west of Rohatyn, are strongly fortified, and are being maintained in the face of determined assaults.

Czar At Galician Front.

The arrival of the Czar at the Galician front has inspired the Russian troops to fresh attacks all along the line from Lemberg to Stanislaw. An official statement issued at midnight reported the capture of 1,900 Austro-Germans and two machine guns.

In the fighting north of Warsaw and in the extreme southeast, north of Czernowitz, all enemy attacks in the last twenty-four hours have been repulsed.

Turks Stronger in Armenia.

The Turks around the Armenian town of Van have been heavily re-equipped, according to official dispatches today, and have attacked the Russian outposts. In the Caucasus, Russian forces defeated a regiment of Turkish regulars and two regiments of Kurdish irregulars in the Mellishghert valley.

Sucked Under Train With Mother, Child Is Not Hurt

CAMDEM, N. J., June 28.—While standing on the Newtonville station of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad today, Mrs. Filomena Russo, twenty-two, was drawn under a passing express train by accident and fatally injured.

A baby the woman held in her arms, miraculously escaped death. The child was unscratched, although the train passed over it as it lay between the rails. Mrs. Russo was taken to the Cooper Hospital, where physicians say she will not live.

Principals in Mexican Revolt, Nipped in Bud

Photo. by American Press Association.
Above—GEN. VICTORIANO HUERTA.
Below—GEN. PASCUAL OROZCO.

MORGAN RECEIVES INDEFINITE LAYOFF

Griffith Suspends Regular Second Baseman, Who Is in Automobile "Mix-up."

RAY MORGAN will not be seen in the line-up of the Nationals until, in Griffith's estimation, he has learned not to become injured in automobile mix-ups. Morgan called his boss on the telephone today and explained that he had been "shaken up" considerably in an automobile accident near Baltimore yesterday, and that he would be unable to play ball today.

Griffith immediately informed him of his indefinite suspension for placing himself in a position to become injured. Morgan stated that he has been to visit his father.

"I cannot stand for anything like this," says Manager Griffith today. "My players are supposed to be ready to play ball all the time during the season. Morgan shows me that he isn't careful. He will stay out of the game until I am personally satisfied that he can play ball again. Sometime, he is loading on his own money."

"I shall play Douglas Neff at second base. Neff is suffering right now from a couple of boils, but he has courage, and I look for him to make good. However, the fans must be patient with him. Morgan was green when he went into the lineup, and Neff is not only green, but he isn't in the best of health. However, he has the nerve necessary."

Just how long Morgan will sit on the bench is a mystery. His suspension is indefinite, and he may be out of the game for a week or two, during which time Neff will play second.

HIS AERO IN FLAMES, VOL PLANES TO EARTH

British Aviator Descends From Great Height After Fighting With German Biplane.

LONDON, June 28.—How a British aviator, with his machine ablaze, volplaned to earth in safety from a great height after a battle with a German biplane of unusual size, was recounted in an "eye-witness" statement today.

The British birdman was first attacked while reconnoitering above the German lines in Belgium at a height of more than 4,000 feet. The German opened with a machine gun at less than 200 yards, but dropped lower when the British fired several shots from his rifle.

The German anti-aircraft guns joined in the engagement, and a bit of shrapnel struck the British aviator's petrol tank. The gasoline took fire, the blaze raced along the framework and set off a supply of cartridges, looped near the pilot's seat.

The plane had reached the propeller when the landing wheels struck ground, but neither the pilot nor his observer was hurt. The German birdman watched his adversary dash earthward and then sped back over the enemy's lines.

Free Dancing. Great Falls. Take Cars 36th and M. sta. nw.—Adv.

HUERTA UNDER SURVEILLANCE AS VILLISTAS MASS AT LINE

Secret Service Agents Keep Constant Watch Over Former Dictator as Old Foe Prepares to Keep Him Out.

Carranzista Forces Defeated by Zapatistas at Mexico City—Grave Fears Felt as to Effect on U. S.

Four important developments today loom large in the complicated Mexican situation, and official Washington, playing for time, awaits further details.

General Huerta, former president of the republic, following his "arrest" yesterday by United States authorities, is at the apartments of his daughter in El Paso. While out under a bond of $15,000, he is under surveillance of secret service men, who are prepared to foil any attempt to jump his bail and start a new revolution in Mexico.

Across the border 3,000 picked troops from Villa's personal guard have been rushed to within striking distance of Juarez, where the loyalty of the garrison was questioned, and should Huerta succeed in getting over the line, Villa will strike, quick and hard.

Further arrests in connection with the revolutionary plot are expected momentarily. A number of persons, including some Americans, are said to be "under suspicion" by Department of Justice agents.

Carranzistas attacking Mexico City under General Pablo Gonzalez have been routed by the Zapata forces there, according to State Department advices.

Communication with the city has been cut off for ten days and no details of the battle have been received. Grave fears that Americans and other foreigners suffered during the engagement are felt here.

In official quarters the fear that events in the capital when they become known may force intervention by the United States is freely expressed.

Villa Masses Army South of Juarez to Keep Huerta Back

EL PASO, June 28.—If Gen. Victoriano Huerta invades Mexico he will meet his old enemy, General Villa. The former bandit has 3,000 picked troops eighty miles south of Juarez and is awaiting Huerta's next move.

Huerta was at the Georgetown apartment house today visiting his daughter, Mrs. Luis Fuentes, and apparently content to remain inactive until his hearing Thursday on charges of conspiring to violate American neutrality by inciting a revolution against Mexico.

Secret Service agents of the United States Treasury Department are watching Huerta to prevent any attempt to jump his $15,000 bail bond.

The Washington Government is represented by Zack Cobb, collector of customs, who, with United States District Attorney Camp, of San Antonio, obtained a search warrant from U. S. Magistrate Charles F. Smith, of El Paso, and intercepted the former dictator and Gen. Pascual Orozco, Huerta's chief aid, at Newman, N. M., just north of El Paso.

Cobb stated today that the border patrol had not been increased and that the report of martial law being declared in Juarez, just across the border, was groundless. He would not state what evidence the Government has against Huerta and Orozco, but intimated that the arrest would not have been strong.

The many former federalist officials of Huerta's regime—known to be in El Paso—kept aloof from their old leader today. He received few callers at his daughter's apartments, apparently desiring to give as little support as possible.